How this ranking was determined:

This year, Morning Consult is introducing an index to determine the Most Loved Nonprofits, in order to offer a more comprehensive look at Americans' perceptions. The index is based on four metrics:

- Favorability: The percentage of adults with a favorable opinion of the nonprofit.
- Trust: The percentage of adults who trust the nonprofit to do the right thing.
- Community Impact: The percentage of adults who say the nonprofit has a positive impact on the communities they serve.
- Donation Consideration: The percentage of adults who would consider donating to the nonprofit.

Each one of these numbers was added together in order to determine the index score. For example, take Nonprofit X.

- +50 Net Favorability (Total Favorable – Total Unfavorable)
- +24 Net Trust (Total Trust – Total Do Not Trust)
- +32 Net Community Impact (Total Positive Impact – Total Negative Impact)
- +2 Net Donation Consideration (Total Likely to Donate – Total Unlikely to Donate)
- $50 + 24 + 32 + 2 = \mathbf{108}$ (Nonprofit X's index score)

Methodology: This poll was conducted between January 27-29, 2020 among a national sample of 4,402 adults. The interviews were conducted online, and the data were weighted to approximate a target sample of adults based on age, educational attainment, gender, race, and region. Results from the full survey have a margin of error of +/- 1%. Each nonprofit was seen by a quarter of the sample (~1,100 adults), with a margin of error of +/-3%.

Better Understanding
Donation Behavior

A plurality of adults report they will claim the standard deduction when filing their taxes this year, yet over a third of U.S. adults are unsure how they plan to file, pointing to confusion in the filing process.

In thinking about your upcoming tax filing, due in April 2020, do you plan to claim the standard deduction or itemized deduction to lower your taxable income?

A third of higher-income earners ($100k+) report they will file their taxes with an itemized deduction rather than the standard deduction.

In thinking about your upcoming tax filing, due in April 2020, do you plan to claim the standard deduction or itemized reduction to lower your taxable income?

More than two-thirds of Gen Zers do not know whether they'll file with a standard or itemized deduction, signaling low information.

While half of U.S. adults report donating to a charity in the past 12 months, just over a third report that they've donated to a nonprofit.

Have you donated to any of the following in the past 12 months?

Reported donations to charities increase with age, educational attainment, and income.

Have you donated to any of the following charities in the past 12 months?

Higher-income adults and adults with higher levels of education are more likely to report donating to nonprofits in the past 12 months.

Have you donated to any of the following nonprofits in the past 12 months?

■ Yes ■ No

Just over half of U.S. adults report they are likely to donate to a charity in the next 12 months, which reveals that the prospects for donations this year will be comparable to last year (where 50% of adults reported donating to a charity).

How likely or unlikely are you to donate to a charity in the next 12 months?

Data suggests those likely to donate in the next 12 months will be demographically similar to those already reporting donation habits.

Have you donated to any of the following nonprofits in the past 12 months?

Local charities are preferred over national and international charities, with over half of adults (56%) reporting they are more likely to donate locally.

If you were to donate to a charity, would you be most likely to donate to a local charity, a national charity, or an international charity?

This trend of local donation preference spans demographic groups.

If you were to donate to a charity, would you be most likely to donate to a local charity, a national charity, or an international charity?

MOST LOVED NONPROFITS

Animal, health, and human services are the charity categories with the highest level of donation consideration this year.
